Brilliant Musicales Marks Eaton's Auditorium Opening

Aladdin's lamp must have been tucked away in some quiet corner of Eaton's-College seventh floor last night, ready to be rubbed, then work its magic. How else could have appeared so quickly silver cascades of fragrant pink roses, banks of scented lilac; yes, and even supper tables lovely with old silver and glass reflecting soft candlelight a fairland moderne—thus was the new auditorium of Eaton's-College revealed last night to nearly 1,500 guests when it was officially opened by the St. Dunstan's Chapter, I.O.D.E., with a musicale, a reception which will long be remembered in Toronto.

It was an evening of many delights—the artistic beauty and novelty of the auditorium itself, the lights, the flowers, and the exquisitely gowned guests, and, best of all, the very fine program of music provided by Florence Austral, soprano; John Amadio, flautist, and Dr. Ernest MacMillan, who gave the first performance on the great Casavant organ. At the close of the magnificent program, when the audience expressed its enthusiasm and appreciation in persistent applause, the charming prima donna persuaded Dr. MacMillan to come out on the stage, which was a bank of roses, and share with her the honors of a notable occasion. Mme. Austral was a magnificent figure in a gown of dull black crepe with cleverly executed jet panels.

Mrs. W. D. Ross, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Susan Ross, and Colonel Alexander Fraser and Mrs. George S. Henry, wife of the Premier of Ontario, arrived at 8.45 o'clock and were received by Mrs. Wallace Barrett, Regent of the Chapter, and Mrs. Bartlett Rogers, general convener of the affair, in one of the smaller reception rooms on the seventh floor. As the guests were arriving the rotunda was a brilliant spectacle, and the auditorium humming with excitement as the bevy of debutante ushers endeavored to seat them. Promptly at 9 o'clock the patrons and patronesses appeared, headed by Mrs. Ross on the arm of Lieut.-Col. Harry McGee, and proceeded to the front of the auditorium where seats had been reserved for them. Mrs. Ross was wearing an ensemble of nile green georgette printed in a darker shade with a velvet wrap to match exactly. Miss Susan Ross, who was escorted by Mr. John Hobbs, was wearing white chiffon with a black velvet wrap. Mrs. George S. Henry, who was escorted by Mr. L. M. Wood, was handsomely gowned in silver brocade lame with rainbow tulle. Others in the impressive little procession were: Mrs. C. E. Burden and Mr. C. E. Burden, Mrs. W. G. Lumbers with Colonel Bartlett Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Harry McGee with Mr. Gordon Willis, Mrs. Lionel Clarke with Mr. Wallace Barrett, Mrs. George Dickson with Mr. A. L. Elsworth, Mrs. Wallace Barrett, in turquoise blue gown and diamond ornaments, with Mr. W. McCrea, Mrs. Bartlett Rogers with Mr. Horace Hunter.

A buffet supper was served in the restaurant and lounge at the conclusion of the musicale, and a string orchestra contributed delightful music. Red roses and lighted ivory candles were arranged on the supper tables which were lovely with old silver. Among those on the Reception Committee were Mrs. A. L. Elsworth, Mrs. Horace Hunter, Mrs. Cecil Trotter, Mrs. Harry Love, Mrs. John Fraser, Mrs. Lauren Harris, Mrs. Arthur Melghen, Mrs. W. J. Elliott, Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. Fred Morrow, Mrs. D. Aylmer Mackay and Mrs. Thomas Eakin. Mrs. William Oakle was in charge of supper arrangements and Mrs. Fred Hanson, publicity. The young ushers included Misses Evelyn and Mary Booth, Miss Frances Wisner, Miss Betty Long, Miss Doris Gale, Miss Kathleen Hobbs, Miss Dorothy Harding, Miss Ann Wright, Miss Peggy Harris, Miss Madeline Willis, Miss Helen Eakin, Miss Joyce Lyon, Miss Isobel Pepall, Misses Mary and Mabel Dunlop, Miss Mary Finlayson, Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Dorothy Campbell, Miss Mary Jarvis, Miss Ruth Vaughan, Miss Kathleen Gibbons, Miss Margaret McHugh, Miss Nancy McDougald, Mrs. H. J. Dingman and Mrs. Gordon Willis were in charge of them.

Margaret Eaton Girls In Gym Demonstration

Elephants, indeed, they resembled, swinging their trunks and lumbering along—twenty-five girls in green and white uniforms; but only for a moment. Now they were horses, walking, cantering, swaying, human swings, pushing up in the air, then down; kangaroos, hopping in long, one-legged fashion. It was a primary lesson in rhythms given at the Margaret Eaton School demonstration of physical education last night in the Varsity Arena.

The program, witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, included clever exhibitions of tumbling, military tactics, Swedish gymnastics, English folk dances, remedial exercises, tap dances and movements of athletic skill. In the last, all sorts of difficult feats were performed by the participants, including apparatus work, high jumping, broad jumping, archery, tennis strokes, baseball, basketball and quoits.

A story play, "A Trip to the North Pole," was unique, the girls forming into a human engine, shovelling snow, snowshoeing to the Pole, seals, bears, reindeer, and a ride home by aeroplane.

During the intermission an orchestra provided music, with Mrs. J. W. Foster at the piano.

The latter part of the program, in charge of Miss Sloat, featured dancing. Two numbers, "The Children's Hour," by the juniors, and "Summer Skies," by the seniors were the original work of the students, composed in class hours. The former was modern enough to feature the Yo-Yo lads. "Summer Skies," including Dawn, Bright Skies, Storm, Sunset and Evening, was all acrobatic dancing, and most effective.

Miss Mary O. Hamilton, director of the school, was in charge of the first number, "Military Tactics." The other teachers in charge of events included Miss Kaulback, Miss Urwick, Mrs. Geddes and Miss Sloat.

PEARSON-FELLION.

St. Ann's Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, May 23, when Hazel Ann, daughter of Mrs. Fellion and the late Mr. Joseph Fellion, became the bride of Harry Louis Pearson, son of Mrs. Pearson and the late Mr. Felix Pearson of Toronto. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Father P. Walsh. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Harold O'Donohue, was gown in white satin, with pointed de Venise lace. Her veil was of Brusross and she wore the groom's gift, a white gold wrist watch. Miss Muriel Firth, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore a yellow flowered silk jacket frock with yellow mohair hat, silk lace mittens to match, and carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses. The groom was attended by his only brother, Mr. Reginald Gracie. A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mrs. John Gracie receiving the guests wearing a gown of black crepe. The bride's mother re-

...day conditions as regards the temperance laws and conditions in the various Provinces were ably discussed by Mrs. H. G. Arnett in her report of the Temperance Department of the Dominion Board. She stated that the scientific and educational side of the question was stressed by the auxiliaries, many of whom had active temperance secretaries and carefully studied programs of activity. In her opinion there is need for such education in all communities and among people of all ages.

"We regret that young people—especially young girls—are becoming victims of the cocktail custom," said Mrs. Arnett, who felt that "surely this is something that parents could control."

"Legalized liquor traffic is hopelessly corrupt and corrupting," she declared. "Our women must accept their responsibility for this nation-wide evil. We must take our stand for nothing less than the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor for beverage purposes."

Joint Work Reported

For the first time the magnificent program of mission work both home and foreign, was presented in one impressive report. Mrs. Anson Spotton, the Executive Mission Secretary, has just completed her first year in office, and her summary of the work of the Dominion Board's activities in the past twelve months was a masterly piece of work. She asserted that the two branches of the work were inseparable, and proceeded to prove it by showing in her report the effect of the one on the other. In all, she said, the board had 369 missionaries and helpers in the field, occupying 150 stations. South Formosa, she felt, offered the most striking example of co-operation in the foreign field. She reported the recent co-operation of the board with the Anglican Church in Canada in engaging a woman worker for the Port of Quebec, and also mentioned in connection with the withdrawal of the United Church W.M.S. from the Japanese work in Toronto; that new work had been started at Bay and Gerrard Streets, with a trained Chinese worker in charge.

A gift of $1,750, received last year from Dr. Victoria Cheung, was mentioned by Mrs. Spotton, who stated that this money, which Dr. Cheung calculated was the sum spent by the W.M.S. on her medical education, was to be used as a scholarship. Great appreciation of the act of Dr. Cheung's thoughtfulness was expressed by several of the members.

"It is not an age of depression for our young people, but an age of impression," said Mrs. J. H. Rush in her report of the work for young people. Other excellent reports were given by Mrs. H. W. Gundy, Mission Bands and Baby Bands Secretary; Miss Margaret Govan, Secretary of affiliated C.G.I.T. groups; Miss Effie A. Jamieson, who reported for the auxiliaries and associate helpers. Miss Constance Young gave a fine review of her work as a Travelling Secretary, and Miss Jamieson read an interesting report sent by Miss B. Louise Foster, a Travelling Secretary doing splendid work in British Columbia.

An impressive "In Memoriam" service was conducted by Mrs. J. MacGillivray at the morning session preceding the sacramental service, over which Rev. E. B. Lancelley, D.D., presided, assisted by Dr. C. J. Bates of Japan, Mrs. W. B. McIntosh of London, and Mrs. O. H. Dixon, President of the Saskatchewan Conference Branch, conducted services of worship.

Students Graduate At Margaret Eaton

Twenty-four graduates of the Margaret Eaton School received diplomas and certificates at the impressive graduation exercises held yesterday afternoon in the Margaret Eaton Hall. As the audience assembled the curtains were drawn on the stage, to be parted at the opening of the exercises to reveal the young graduates gowned in white with their arms full of flowers and singing "Land of Our Birth." Following this effective appearance of the graduates, Rev. E. A. Hiltz, D.D., pronounced the invocation, and Miss Mary Hamilton, the Director of the school, presented the report of the work of the year.

"This is the largest graduating class in our history," declared Miss Hamilton, who left this program with those leaving the school: "Aggressive fighting for the right is the greatest sport the world affords."

Emphasizing the co-relation of the physical and the spiritual training, Rev. G. Stanley Russell, D.D., declared that Margaret Eaton School was doing a very great work, and a religious work, "because the training of the body is a necessary part of religious training." In closing his remarks to the graduating class Dr. Russell said: "Everyone doing anything in Canada is in touch with the very centre of the world's life. Canada is the Main Street of the world—the telephone exchange of the human race. Be faithful to your trust, for your influence will go throughout the world."

The gold medalist of the school, Miss Irma Moyer, delivered the valedictory address, and Dr. Hiltz presented diplomas and certificates and spoke a few words of commendation and advice to the graduates. Those receiving diplomas were: Lucille Bascom, Katherine Forbes, Helen Grange, Frances Lee, Marion McKay, Donalds Mooney, Jean Mooney, Edith Moore, Irma Moyer, Margaret Nicholson, Margaret Ryan, Amy Wingate and Margaret Withers; certificates—Gladys Baker, Owen Berry, Barbara Grant, Ruth Hamilton, Margaret Henderson, Margaret Hickey, Helen Jackson, Dora Newman, Isabel Pitts, Hazel Thomas, Dorothy Treble and Margaret Woolaver.

RETHRINGTON—RAWLINSON.

The marriage of Dorothy Henrietta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Rawlinson, to Arthur S. Rethrington, was an interesting event in Grace Church-on-the-Hill yesterday. Palms, ferns, lilacs and pink tulips effectively decorated the church. The Rev. Canon J. Broughall, rector of the church, conducted the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Canon Arthur Bidler. Mr. F. C. Duke presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Miss Doris Ashton sang. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her nuptial robe of ivory satin, fashioned on long slim lines, the train falling gracefully from the hips. Seed pearls were used as trimming, while the bridal veil was of tulle caught to the head with orange blossoms. The bride carried a shower bouquet of lily-of-the-valley and orchids, and wore the groom's gift, a diamond and platinum pin. The picturesque group of bridal attendants included Mrs. Ernest Hearn as matron of honor, Miss Ernest Hearn strong, Miss Helen Webster, as bridesmaids, and little Miss Margaret Helen Graham as flower girl. They were frocked alike in been erected on the lawn for refreshments. Mrs. Rawlinson, mother of the bride, was gracefully costumed in French frock of skipper blue, lace and georgette, with hat to match a fox fur and corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. Rethrington, mother of the groom, wore beige lace matching hat and roses. Later Mr. Mrs. Rethrington left on a motor to Quebec and on their return will side in Toronto.

"Not Wild, Wonderful"

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Winnipeg, May 28.—"Girls today are not wild—they are wonderful," Mrs. H. D. Warren, Chief Commissioner of Girl Guides in Canada, told members of the Women's Canadian Club here.

"I hear many people say the modern girl is wild," said Mrs. Warren. "She is not. She is honest and speaks her mind, openly and frankly, a thing that is charming and genuine. I think the girls of today have in them the making of wonderful citizens."

A delightful garden party was given on Saturday afternoon by Sir William and Lady Hearst at their home on Glen Road. The guests were received on the wide veranda by their host and hostess, the latter wearing a graceful gown of smoke-grey chiffon patterned in black and rose and fashioned on long lines. Mrs. Vernon Hearst, Mrs. Irving Hearst and Mrs. J. R. Gibbs, a daughter, assisted in welcoming the guests, who wandered happily about the lawn, enjoying the gaily-colored flowers and tall abay trees. Refreshments were served in a large marquee, and the long table was particularly attractive with a central silver bowl of pink and white peonies and carnations and other Summer flowers. On either side and at each end tall silver vases held similar flowers. The guests at this enjoyable affair numbered 125.

Miss Mary Moorhead entertained at a jolly dinner party on Saturday evening at the Mississauga Golf and Country Club in honor of Miss Kathleen Ritchie and Mr. Thomas Gilmour and their wedding party. The guests, who numbered 22, afterwards enjoyed a dance.

A dinner-dance was given by Mrs. Bethune Lattat Smith on Saturday evening in honor of Miss Joyce Warden and Mr. John Douglas Fraser Ross. The affair was informal and was held at the Toronto Hunt Club. The guests numbered 26.

Mrs. W. D. Stewart, of Ottawa; Mrs. A. J. Murphy, of Hallsbury; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ward, of New York; Mrs. B. D. Hope, of Richmond, Va.; Col. and Mrs. E. D. Miller, of Newport, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Townsend, of Jamestown, N.Y., are among the guests at the King Edward Hotel this week.

Heliconian Club Are Guests At Charming Out-Door Party

One of the very delightful events of the season was the picnic at which Miss Ethel Shepherd was hostess at Kilmere, King, to the members of the Heliconian Club on Saturday afternoon. Sun gleaming on the meadows that run down to the private lake and pricking a sparkling circle around the island, and gardens in colorful glow greeted the eyes of the guests who had motored out from the club. Miss Shepherd received wearing a dress of blue crepe with pink linen straw hat and pink pearls. Then the afternoon was casual pleasure, some punting, while others played croquet, went exploring for wild flowers, admired the Guernseys or shopped on the lawn. High tea was served from a table done with a great centre of garden bloom in the dining-room. The guests included Miss Nellie Jeffers, Mrs. Agar Adamson, Mrs.

Boris Hambour, Miss Mona Cockwell, Mrs. W. O. Haynes, Miss Minnie Kallmeyer, Mrs. H. S. Corbett, Mrs. John Garvin, Mrs. Leo Smith, Mrs. Berntha E. ## REST HOME OPENED BY SAMARITAN CLUB

Many Members Attend Annual Gathering at Jackson's Point.

More than 100 members of the Samaritan Club went up to Jackson's Point on Saturday afternoon for the opening of the Vaidal Rest Home. Mrs. E. M. Ashworth presided over the informal ceremony, and Mrs. W. A. Denton, convener of the rest home committee, outlined the work which last year meant holidays for nearly 100 members of the families of those suffering from tuberculosis. Miss Julia Stewart, former social worker connected with the club, gave an address and the prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Twies of Jackson's Point. Many friends of the rest home in the district were among the guests. The two new fireplaces were much advised. Mrs. Kenneth Denton and Mrs. J. P. M. Sibbald poured tea. Those present included Mrs. W. A. Denton, Mrs. Norman Twies, Mrs. J. P. Denton, Mrs. J. A. Denton, Mrs. A. J. Franklin, Mrs. H. C. Barber, Mrs. Amy Dunlop and Mrs. E. J. Denton, in memory of whose daughter the home was named.

Married Teacher Problem Under Fire in the West

Jackson, June 12.—(CP)—A recent statement of Premier J. F. M. Anderson that the present unemployment among school teachers is largely due to the return of farmers' wives to the teaching profession, met with vigorous protest at the Farm Women's University Week conference here. The return of farmers' wives to the teaching profession, it was declared in a resolution, is due to economic conditions. Farmers' wives, it added, are not the only people who have found it necessary to return to their former professions or rather gainful occupation. It was recommended that school trustee boards in enquiring teachers consider qualifications of applicants rather than the circumstances of whether a teacher is married or single.

Col. Millar Notes Canada's Difficulties in Aiding Veterans

DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE

Discussing legislation in connection with Great War veterans, Colonel Ross Millar, M.D., Director of Medical Service in the Department of Pensions and National Health, yesterday outlined the difficult position of Canada in looking after veterans. He spoke at the second and last session of the sixth annual conference of clinic managers, held in the Royal York Hotel.

Canada, he explained, had not only veterans of Canadian birth to look after, but veterans from the United States, Italy and France, as well as former members of the Imperial Army.
However, everything possible was being done at the nine Government clinics.
Only one of which is a diagnostic clinic, he went on.

As Canada is a young country, the funds that people contribute to veterans' pensions must be used as economically as possible, and one of the big problems with which his department is faced is to see that nobody receives a pension unless his disability is attributable to war service. Colonel Millar continued. This, he declared, is made very difficult as the number and variety of diseases that have been discovered by well-meaning but imaginative doctors are manifold.

As to veterans who do not receive pensions being examined by private clinics, Colonel Millar stated that the Government has no right to pay for the expense involved. Although the Government is glad to co-operate with private clinics, Colonel Millar warned the delegates to be careful not to make snap judgments.

Government paid out 35 per cent.
less for the maintenance of soldiers in private institutions than it paid for the same number of soldiers in Gov-

The reason for that, Colonel Millar explained, was because of the length of hospitalization in the different types of institutions. The Government hospitals look after the lengthy cases while most of the cases in private hospitals were emergency cases that were able to leave after a short

Dance, Sing: Cure Disease Of Depression

Authority on Folk Dancing Says People Need Natural Recreation

"JAZZ IS A FAD"

"This depression is a result of the three-fourths mental and one-fourth physical nature of the best ways to cure it is to make people play—let them sing and let them dance," said Miss Elizabeth Burchenal in an interview with The Globe last night. Miss Burchenal is the foremost authority on the folk dance of this continent and is President of the American Folk Dance Society.

"People are realizing more and more," Miss Burchenal went on to say, "that there is a definite need for natural recreation and expression. Folk dancing especially responds to this need in the wholesome enjoyment and richness which it brings to those who take part in it, and in the fact that every type and every class from the millionaire to the milkmaid gets an inner satisfaction from the rhythmic movement and social contact of the dancing."

Commenting upon the difference between modern dancing and folk dancing, Miss Burchenal said that jazz is a fad which every one subscribes to much as one adopts a Eugene hat while it is in style, but folk dancing is something permanent and lasting which satisfies an inherent need for expression. While the dances of today seek their climax in individual gratification, folk dance brings both men and women together with a fine balance of decorum and animation.

Miss Burchenal is also the United

College in India Enlarges Work

Ludhiana Christian Medical School Boon to Women of India

DR. ARCHER SPEAKS

A new department devoted exclusively to the study and care of the woman has been recently added to the Women's Christian Medical College, Ludhiana, India, according to a report presented at the annual meeting of the Canadian Auxiliary Committee, held Thursday night, in the Toronto Bible Training College, at which the President, Dr. Jennie Gray-Waldman, presided.

Dr. G. B. Archer of India, Chairman of the governing body of the college, the sponsor of the meeting, emphasized the important part this interdenominational college, which was founded some 35 years ago by Dr. Edith M. Brown, to try meet the need for medical workers in India, is doing to ameliorate the sufferings and bring the Gospel message to millions of India's women.

There are now 247 students in training registered in the various classes of the medical college, and during the past 35 years some 200 women have been trained at this college for medical service—more than 200 of whom are doctors according to reports submitted.

The Canadian Auxiliary was formed some twenty years ago, and since its formation has sent twelve to the training staff and secured more than thirty scholarships for medical students, and twelve scholarships for nurses. And it is encouraging to note that our efforts in Canada have enabled more than thirty young women to fit themselves for work among their needy sisters, according to the secretarial report of Dr. Margaret Patterson.

But, while we rejoice in what has been accomplished, there is still urgent need of our help," continued the report. "Dr. Brown writes: 'In going over my list of applications I have selected six, and hope that Canada will provide for them. They are all exceptionally desirable students, and I am sure that a great help to the college will be a great help to the women of India.'"

COMING ATTRACTIONS

What Playhouses and Concert Producers Say of Their Performances

Theatres

"ELIZABETH, THE QUEEN."

There will be presented at the Royal Alexandra Theatre next week, with matinees on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, one of the undoubted successes of the past theatrical season in New York, Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth, the Queen." A marked feature of the entertainment is said to be not only the superb interpretation which all Theatre Guild productions is well nigh perfect, but the remarkable artistry displayed by all the actors in their make-up. The entrance of each and every one of the famous personages, including the Queen, Essex, Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Robert Cecil, Sir Francis Bacon and others is always met with gasps by the audience. One enthusiastic New York reviewer said on the opening night: "These are surely good Queen Beas and her courtiers in the flesh." Besides bringing the original stage settings, costumes and lighting effects to this city, the management, which is sending the play on tour premises a cast of well-known New York players, with Miss Elizabeth Arden at the head.

"STRANGE INTERLUDE."

All arrangements have finally been made for the return presentation at the Royal Alexandra Theatre for the week beginning Monday, Oct. 12, of Eugene O'Neill's most melodramatic play, "Strange Interlude." This extraordinary drama consists of nine acts, and begins to unfold at 5:30 in the afternoon, with an intermission from 7:40 to 9 o'clock for dinner; when the drama resumes its course until the final curtain time of eleven. Five hours of entertainment, a generous portion certainly, that must be uncommonly engrossing in order to have held that long the capacity audiences which have attended the play in New York and every other city where it has been seen. The story of "Strange Interlude" is that of a woman who rules and sways the three men in her life as if they were mere puppets, and so complex is the nature that audiences are divided always as to whether she is deserving of pity or censure. It won the Pulitzer Prize as "the best play of the year."

AT THE EMPIRE.

Just to further prove that they are at home in any play, drama, comedy or out and out farce, the Cameo Players, English Players at the Empire are to romp through a gay and frivolous farce success next week when they present as their fourth current attraction Norman Cannon's hit "Don't Wake the Wife." It is the type of farcical stage piece which captures the laughs spontaneously and completely. The plight of the husband and his sympathy from all husbands, and his efforts to regain his wife's affections, in spite of his failure as a bridge player, will melt the coldest feminine heart. He is desperate when his new butler offers a solution—suicide or disappearance. For the sake of the play's continuance Tanker chooses the disappearance act and from the moment of his decision the play becomes a madcap and greater fun.

VILMA ROYTON.

woman, who is disillusioned shortly after her honeymoon, when her husband, whom she thought a bank clerk, is revealed as a bank robber. Olsen and Johnson, Hollywood's Hooligan of Hilarity, are headlining on the RKO vaudeville program at Shea's this week. And, as usual, there is an act difficult to describe. Jope Termini, the Somnolent Melodist, and Dorothea and her Yellow Jackets are a colorful part of this week's stage enchantment.

AT LOEW'S.

"This Modern Age," the new Joan Crawford starring vehicle, which opened yesterday at Loew's, is a most satisfactory piece of entertainment. Pauline Frederick is the very modern mother, who joins in the jollities of Paris, with her daughter. It is daughter's impassioned defense of mother's peccadilloes to Nell Hamilton that upsets the course of true romance, and sends our heroine into the hands of the man in waiting, Monroe Owsley. Mildred Cram's tale, which first appeared in a national magazine as "Girls Together," has been deftly transferred to the screen. Miss Crawford is made to order for the part of the heroine. She has in the role some of her very best dramatic opportunities, of which she takes adequate advantage. Nicholas Grinde has done a smooth and even job of direction. From an ocular point of view the story has much to recommend it. Topping the short subjects are the screen's funniest pair of comedians.

New Supper Plates

In the famous "Mason's Ironstone-China" come these plates that are entirely new and yet look like great-grandmother's wedding china with their rims of solid color and centres of English countryside scenes.

These scenes are made from original old copper plate designs, surrounded by embossing, and the wide borders are deep raspberry, dove grey or yellow.

They can be used as service plates, and would make a very smart wedding gift. They have just arrived from England and can be seen in our window this week. The price is most moderate at $30.00 per dozen.

Folk Dancing Has New Value

American Authority Conducts Course at Margaret Eaton

If you were a tired and worried business man or woman and had happened to drop into the Margaret Eaton School around 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, you would have been amazed at how quickly you would have forgotten your cares. How? Just by stepping out on to the gymnasium floor and jodding with more than 150 blithesome young people in a round of rollicking folk-dances. Sounds enticing, doesn't it?

Elizabeth Burchenal has been a firm believer in the folk-dance for a good many years, but now, when the world is at high tension, she feels it can play a tremendously important part. Yesterday, in the Margaret Eaton School, Miss Burchenal held the first of a series of three open classes in recreational folk-dancing to be conducted in Toronto this week. When the distinguished guest leader, fellow of the American Academy of Physical Education, stepped out on to the floor and smilingly greeted her eager class, there were more than 150 ready to begin. Eighty of them were pupils of the school, but the rest represented the Ontario College of Education, physical directors of private and public schools and others interested especially in folk-dancing.

Visitors in the gallery watched enviously, while the merry group on the big floor lifted from one dance into another, their laughter blending with the quaint tunes. At 8 o'clock this evening Miss Burchenal will hold her second class and tomorrow at 4.30 the series will conclude.

Peasant Art Of Ukrainians Is on Exhibit

Annual Display of Native Handicraft Is Quite Imposing

MRS. LIVESAY SPEAKS

Ukrainian hand-embroidery, rivaling the rainbow in variety and richness of coloring, is the dominant note in an exhibition of arts and handicrafts representative of some 6,000 of Toronto's "new Canadians," which was formally opened last night in the Ukrainian People's Home, 191 Lippincott Street, and will be open to the public during the next three days.

Hundreds of pieces of embroidery are in the collection, which is representative of the peasant art of a people whose history dates back some 1,113 years, but whose life in their native country has not of late been particularly happy, since in the war years they lost their country to their victors, and have come, thousands of them, to find peace and freedom in the Land of the Maple, bringing with them a wealth of handicraft lore.

Various Fine Stitches.

The visitor gets some idea of the volume of this in viewing the riot of color, produced by minute hand stitching, which adorns the walls of the drab old building on Lippincott Street, and which is one of several community centres of the Ukrainians, where they gather for folk-dancing and social intercourse. In the embroidery collection are splendid examples of the "kelym," the heavy wool-woven tapestry in dark, rich colorings which adorn the walls of Ukrainian native homes, and some pieces of which measure nine yards in length. There are beautifully embroidered table cloths, buffet covers, pillow slips, centre pieces, serviettes—of fine linen and exquisite designs in cross-stitching, rya, lad and the various Ukrainian stitches. Over the pictures of Taras Shechenko and Evan Franko, "Ukraine's two greatest poets," it was explained to the visitor, were

Folk Dances of World May Vary But Music Runs in Similar Strain

"Folk arts represent the very heart and soul of a country," said Miss Elizabeth Burchenal last evening, as she addressed a gathering on the subjects which the International Commission on Folk Arts of the League of Nations is studying. Miss Burchenal, who is giving a series of three sessions on the folk dance at the Margaret Eaton School, is the United States member on the League of Nations Commission, as well as being President of the American Folk Dance Society.

"Music and dancing is universal—every people in the world have their own dances, yet when the experts of the League Commission delivered their communications, it was discovered that there were similar strains running through them all," Miss Burchenal continued. "Committee meetings in Yugoslavia begin and end with song, for in the older countries every one knows the same songs. For the reason that the North American Continent is still young in such material, it is a particularly fine ground for the studying of folk dances 'on the make,' as it were, and for the building up of a permanent art."

Citing the uses of folk-dancing as applied to everyday life, Miss Burchenal said that its biggest field was in adult recreation of a clean, wholesome nature, and in the treatment of mental patients. Miss Burchenal has done special work with the Johns Hopkins clinic under Dr. Adolph Meyer. "There is a wonderful feeling in seeing a group of people dead on their feet and used to sitting by and letting George do it, get up and join in a group where they are laughing and singing and dancing before they realize that they are happy," said Miss Burchenal.

roduced into Ukraina in 1573, the first books were published in 1574, and the first newspaper made its appearance at Charkow in 1818."

In other sections of the display are found beautiful examples of wood-carving, inlaid with mother-of-pearl and precious stones—an art extensively practiced in the highlands of Ukraina.

The exhibition was formally opened last night by M. Humenich, the President of the Ukrainian Club, while this afternoon's program will be in charge of Mrs. Kunikewich, President of the Women's Section, with Mrs. Florence Livesay as speaker.

Part to Play Peace Cause For Every One Unites Women

Hon. W. G. Martin Says Short Play Given by Individuals and Governments Must Act League of Nations Society

Not only Governments, but individuals must play their parts wisely and well today, in the opinion of Hon. W. G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare, who delivered a stirring address to members of the Overseas League last night in their clubrooms, King Street West. He felt that while there must be a cutting down on luxuries and reckless extravagance, there should be no elimination of ordinary expenditures.

"The man of the hour must use constructive economics," declared Mr. Martin. "The wheels of industry must be kept turning." Mr. Martin believes that from a constructive point of view there is as much danger in holding back as in yielding to a spirit of blatant optimism. He ridiculed the people who talk of the disintegration of the British Empire, saying: "Britain has an unconquerable genius for overcoming difficulties, and while that spirit exists the Empire will go on from strength to strength."

"All we require is a steady head, a cool courage, a firm seasoned, skilled hand on the helm, directing the ship of State, and we shall move forward to a great era of progress," declared the speaker.

Following the address an informal reception was held, and refreshments served at small tables. The guests were received by W. H. Irvine, the Chairman; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Easterbrook and Mrs. A. G. Strathy.

Woman's call to champion the cause of world disarmament was the timely subject of a short peace play presented by members of the Women's League of Nations Society at the annual meeting, held yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the McGill Street Y.W.O.A. The three leading characters, grandmother, mother and daughter, women of three generations, discussed the past, the present, and looked into the future, coming to the decision that their efforts in the fight for peace must be united, as they were in the struggle for the franchise.

"Women's Next Crusade," and "Word Disorder Versus World Disorder," the two plays on the afternoon program, were warmly received by the audience, and Miss Alice Chown, the President, urged those present to present them in their own organizations. In the Secretary's annual report, it was stated that the sending out of peace plays to various places in the Province had been one of the society's worthwhile activities in the past year.

Election of officers, which was to have taken place yesterday, was postponed until the next meeting. Miss Chown announced that the plans of the association for the coming season embraced a lecture course in world economics, disarmament study groups, and peace education through the drama.
